

ACME SALES – COLD CALL SCRIPT & BEST PRACTICES

OPENING (first 10 seconds)

"Hi [Name], this is [Your Name] from Acme. I know I'm calling out of the blue – do you have 30 seconds for me to explain why I reached out, and then you can decide if it's worth continuing?"

Tip: Always ask for permission to continue. It lowers resistance and earns attention.

VALUE PROPOSITION

"We help [their industry] teams cut the time spent searching for information by routing questions to a single assistant. Most teams we work with save 3-5 hours per rep per week."

DISCOVERY QUESTIONS

- "How does your team currently handle [problem]?"
- "What does that cost you in time or missed deals today?"
- "Who else would be involved in evaluating a solution like this?"

HANDLING THE "SEND ME AN EMAIL" BRUSH-OFF

"Happy to. So I send something useful rather than generic – what's the one thing that, if it worked, would make this worth a real look?"

CLOSING FOR A MEETING

"Based on what you shared, it sounds like a 20-minute demo would be worth your time. Does Thursday at 10 or Friday at 2 work better?"

VOICEMAIL (keep under 20 seconds)

"Hi [Name], [Your Name] from Acme. I have an idea for cutting your team's research time that I think is worth 20 minutes. I'll follow up by email – or reach me at [number]."
